Scope and Content:

This collection consists of issues of The American Silk Journal, Textile World and other trade publications that discuss issues and events in the silk industry. The magazines include articles about the latest in silk manufacturing technology, job postings and advertisements. The journals also contain articles about influential people in the silk industry including, Catholina Lambert of Paterson and John Ryle of Paterson.

Series:

This collection is not a complete run of this periodical, but rather a few random issues from the years 1890-1934. The collection is organized by journal name and then chronologically.
